As the foster - you have the opportunity to document the characteristics of the dog which should help in finding the best possible furever home for him/her.

BONDED PAIRS:

yes_____ no_____

Sometimes we get bonded pairs in the rescue. Is it necessary to keep them together. Many bonded pairs will not do well if separated. If you have such a pair - please indicate the other dog involved - and prepare a checklist for that dog as well.

Occasionally we find that the "bonded" pair - really shouldn't be - as was the case recently.

If you notice that they play well together, sleep together, are constantly together, if they become stressed or depressed when separated - chances are they are well bonded and should stay together.

If on the other hand you notice them fighting constantly/routinely - not play fighting - real fighting, if one is extremely "alpha" with the other, if one tries to get away from the other routinely - chances are - they shouldn't be together. Again - your observations as the foster are critical.

MICRO-CHIP

As part of SRC protocol - all SRC dogs are/or will be micro-chipped prior to adoption. Details of the numbers/information are maintained by the president at SRC.
